Excerpt: .are permitted to do so without making payment of the incorporation fees or taxes exacted of manufacturing and business corporations. If such corporations were given the power to acquire real estate without restriction, it might lead to many abuses, and many such corporations might become holders of large tracts of land, and operate for pecuniary benefit-a thing which the Legislature doubtless foresaw and undertook to prevent. The large tract of land in controversy here consists of portions fit for hunting and fishing purposes, and other portions suitable for agricultural purposes, and it was clearly not necessary that the corporation acquire the same for assembly, library, laboratory, etc., uses in connection with any benevolent, religious, scientific or educational purpose which it might have, and it was not therefore such as the respondent was empowered to acquire and hold. But respondent insists that this point can be taken advantage of Bfgfgscifgst by the State alone in an appropriate proWho may ceeding, and that such defense cannot be i, in a d invoked by appellants. It is true that an unwarranted exercise of corporate power ordinarily cannot be questioned in a collateral or in direct way by an individual. A careful review of the authorities, however, discloses that this rule is applied to situations quite different from the present one. After the corporation has transgressed its powers and acquired the property, then the general rule above referred to prevails, but where, as here, the corporation has not...
